

Journal #3

You may choose one of the following questions to respond to.

1. Why do you think so many stories have happy endings? What does our desire for happy endings say about our culture?

OR

2. As we draw near the end of our time together, describe in detail, one assignment or day that you really liked and one that you found challenging. What specifically did you like or find challenging about the particular day or assignment?